

The Blessing of the Badges

Organized by
Saint Michael the Archangel Anglican Catholic Church
In honor of Law Enforcement and First Responders

Many churches or organizations across the country have held the "Blessing of the Badges," an event where law enforcement and others first responders' personnel have their badges blessed for safety and well-being. From fire fighters, to law enforcement, to military, to emergency medical technicians, the event honors all those who put their lives on the line each day to keep our communities safe.

Come and let us thank you for your endless dedication to the safety of the children of God.

The Archangel Michael is venerated in Judaism, Islam and Christianity as the patron Saint of all peacemakers. As the patron saint of police officers and all first responders, the Archangel Michael knows what it means to face the threat of evil and imminent danger. Throughout Scriptures, St. Michael is the warrior angel, standing up to and defeating Satan many times. His largest challenge and triumph over evil takes place in the Book of Revelations (12:7-8).
